Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Biomass, as an open access journal, is dedicated to disseminating rigorously peer-reviewed publications to advance knowledge and technology in biomass-related areas, such as feedstocks, conversion, and valorization. The journal welcomes diversity within the scientific approach to different areas of biomass and biorefining in order to explore different perspectives that further knowledge in this field. It brings many opportunities for actively spreading novel concepts and advancements in biomass conversion and biorefinery, such as comprehensive overviews, techno-economic and life cycle assessments as well as critical reviews that pinpoint state-of-the-art in the field and identify directions and challenges for further research.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Lasse Rosendahl

Aims

Biomass (ISSN 2673-8783) is an international open access journal on biomass conversion and biorefinery. Biomass publishes review articles (reviews), original research papers (articles), and short communications. Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their experimental and theoretical results in as much detail as possible. Therefore, there is no restriction on the length of papers that can be submitted. The full experimental details must be provided so that the results can be reproduced.

Scope

- Biomass feedstocks
- Biomass conversion
- Biomass valorization
- Conversion of biomass-derived compounds
- Conversion of biomass into biofuels and renewable chemicals in biorefineries
- Bio-based materials for biorefineries
- Renewable energy technologies of biomass
